
ElectraIC
Course Summary

To find out more about these and the full range of training courses from ElectraIC please visit elecraic.com/trainings.

SPICE-ISO 15504 (new ISO 33000) : Introduction and Basic Concepts

DURATION : 2 DAYS

Program Overview

The aim of this training is to inform all the attendees about SPICE (as a process improvement approach), basic concepts, process areas, meanings of objectives and practices and how to interpret them. Practices will be provided during the training in order to show how to apply SPICE in real-life.

Who should attend?

- Software Development Teams
- Technical Leaders
- Project Specialists
- Project Managers
- Program Managers
- Quality Managers
- Technical Managers
- Managers

Pre-requisites?

- –

What will you learn?

- Process improvement approaches
- SPICE basic concepts
- Staged and Continuous representations
- The relationship between quality and capability maturity
- Process improvement organization
- Basic characteristics of a successful process improvement program

Structure and Content

- Process Improvement Approaches
- Basic Concepts of SPICE
- Quality Cost Model and Corporate Maturity
- Continuous and Staged Representations
- Level 1 Process Areas and Practices
- Level 2 Process Areas and Practices
- Level 3 Process Areas and Practices
- SPICE Assessments